ADA Service Animal

“Service animal means any dog that is individually trained to do work or perform tasks for the benefit of an individual with a disability, including a physical, sensory, psychiatric, intellectual or other mental disability. “

Companion Animals

A “companion animal” is a pet that is owned by an individual with a disability. A companion animal is NOT a service animal and unlike service animals, companion animals will not need to accompany the individual with the disability at all times.

Please answer the following questions as complete as you can. If the person with a disability has the certification from the Service Animal Organization that trained the dog please attach and disregard the questions.

1. Please provide specific evidence that the disability results in a functional limitation requiring an assistance animal.

2. Please provide specific details on work and/or tasks performed by the assistance animal for the individual with a disability.
